

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

Additionally, I certainly don't look forward to being forced to listen to other passengers yelling into their cell phones in order to overcome the noise in the cabin. There would almost certainly be at least one person in each row trying to talk to someone, and the resulting din would make it impossible for anyone else to read or work during the flight.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Kevin Dodd
